MR. BISSELL

Aircraft Man Council Speaker

A United Aircraft economist will discuss the state of business in Connecticut at a meeting of the New England Council's Connecticut division Thursday in Stratford.

Speaker will be Richard M. Bissell Jr., director of marketing and economic planning at UAC. He is former deputy director of the Central Intelligence Agency, having served during the Cuba Bay of Pigs invasion. He will comment on his CIA experiences at the meeting, to be held at Mill River Country Club.

Nomination of Connecticut directors to the Council will take place, it was announced by Chairman Paul V. Hayden, who is president of Connecticut Light & Power Co.
